Welcome to the Spring edition of What's On at Beverley Minster. Prayers have been said on this site since John, Bishop of York, founded a monastery here. He retired to this place and died in 712. Visit his tomb in the Minster and follow in the footsteps of the thousands of pilgrims who came to Beverley to venerate Saint John.

Whether you visit as a tourist to see one of the most beautiful Gothic churches in Europe, come to a service, attend a concert or visit an exhibition, you will be made most welcome.

Friday 25

13.00 – c.14.00 The 24

directed by Robert Hollingworth

Join us in the Nave of Beverley Minster to hear the University of York's acclaimed vocal ensemble The 24. They celebrate the rich German choral traditions of Schütz, Schein and Mendelssohn: formal, daring and beautifully crafted – presented here alongside the rarely heard English Tudor masterpiece John Sheppard's 'Media vita' – a glorious sound-scape which could have been purposefully designed to celebrate this magnificent building.

Tickets £14.00 (concessions £12.00, under 35s £5.00)

Saturday 26

10.00 – 13.00 The Revolutionary Recorder

A workshop for advanced recorder players directed by Piers Adams in the Minster Parish Hall

For detailed information, please access: www.ncem.co.uk/recorderworkshop18

Sunday 27

14.00 – 15.00 in the Quire of Beverley Minster

Ashley Solomon - flute

Father, Son and Godfather

Ashley Solomon explores repertoire for unaccompanied flute by three giants of the baroque era.

Six Fantasias by Telemann are performed either side of works by Johann Sebastian Bach and his most famous son Carl Phillip Emmanuel who was inspired to write for the flute by his employer King Frederick the Great of Prussia. All three composers were very closely linked, with Telemann being CPE Bach's Godfather.

All twelve Fantasias have recently been recorded by Ashley Solomon for Channel Classics on a number of flutes, including two unique instruments both built in 1760. One is an ivory flute by the English maker Cahusac, the other belongs to the Royal Collection Trust and is believed to have been owned and played by King George III.

Tickets £15.00 (concessions £13.00, under 35s £5.00)

Tickets available from Beverley TIC, Treasure House; via www.ncem.co.uk/bemf or on the door if available.
